

THE CENTER FOR HEALING

Sponsored by LifePath Systems

WHAT WE DO

The Center provides long-term support and a range of services including talk therapy, resource navigation, support groups, and educational workshops.

Services are provided by trained professionals with experience in supporting trauma survivors struggling with stress, anxiety, depression, and other mental health challenges.

The Center works with local partners to promote resilience and healing at the broader community level through education campaigns, advocacy efforts, and community-building events.

WHO WE HELP

The Center for Healing is here to provide support for anyone who has been directly or indirectly impacted by the mass shooting in Allen, Texas.

OUR STORY

After the mass shooting at Allen Premium Outlets LifePath Systems immediately began providing free trauma counseling and resource navigation to anyone affected. The Center will continue this work by creating a safe and welcoming space for individuals impacted by this traumatic event.

OUR VISION

The Center for Healing aims to reduce stigma surrounding mental health and trauma through community engagement and education while promoting a culture of healing and support. Because we recognize healing is a journey that should be accessible to all, we prioritize inclusivity and accessibility.

OUR MISSION

The Center for Healing's mission is to provide free and accessible care to those seeking healing and hope in our community. Our goal is to empower individuals to process their experiences, build resilience, and transform trauma into growth.
